GROUP LAST TO LEAVE THE CAMP

Timmins, Ont., Feb. 20.—Pilot H. R. Clegg of North Bay, Ont., and four passengers lost their lives late yesterday afternoon when their plane crashed on the frozen surface of a lake or river in the Wawa district, fifty miles south of here. News of the tragedy reached here to-day.

It was reported they crashed on either the Mattagami River or Lake Kenogami, but it could not be definitely learned exactly where the accident happened.

The victims were the pilot and Lorne Buchanan, thirty-five, Schumacher, Ont., widow, formerly of Sudbury, Alta. Taro, twenty-five, Schumacher, Norton, formerly of Sudbury, Ont., and Gordon Konigsberg, thirty, Schumacher, formerly of Montreal.

All Crew Except One Man Lost With Ship

London, Feb. 20.—A Lloyd's dispatch from Ojeda, Spain, to-day said the Spanish steamer Pena Castilla had foundered near the Spanish port of Lueña, all members of the crew, save one, being lost.

Lloyd's registry does not list a ship named Pena Castilla, but it was suggested the Pena Castilla, a vessel of 348 gross tons, of Bilbao, was the ship lost.

Women Lead Men As Churchgoers

Over 15,000 Men in Canada Have No Religion, But Only 5,710 Women

Numerous Small Sects Exist in Canada, Religious Census Shows

There is a popular belief that women are more pious than men. The 1931 census appears to demonstrate the truth of it. The males recorded as having no religion numbered 15,361 and the females 5,710.

Women are also more prone to identify themselves with a religious denomination. Males who did not record their sect affiliation numbered 14,374 and females only 1,663.

The male population of Canada at the 1931 census was 3,374,541 and the female population 3,002,245. It might be expected, therefore, that in the various religious denominations the males would predominate, but this is not so. In the larger denominations such as the Roman Catholics, United Church, Anglicans and Presbyterians, the males are in the majority, but in certain others the females outnumber the males.

Women predominate among the Adventists, Apostolic Brethren, Brethren Christian Church, Christian Alliance, Christian Science, Church of Christ, Disciples, Followers of Christ, Gospel People, Holiness Movement, New Thought, Pentecostal, Plymouth Brethren, Saints, Salvation Army, Spiritualists, Theosophists and Truth.

The total in "Other Sects" is given as 4,014. Some of these are: Two hundred and seventy Armenians, thirty Bahai, twenty-one Bible Church, thirty-two Christian, sixty-three Carmelite, thirty-two Catholic, thirty-three

F. J. D. BARNJUM DIES IN PARIS

Timber Conservationist, Well-known Here, Passes in French Capital

Quamichan Stands Bought By Him to Be Preserved in Special Trust

Paris, Feb. 20.—Frank J. D. Barnjum, millionaire Canadian lumberman and ardent timber conservationist, died at the Neully Clinic here Saturday evening after a week's illness. He had been receiving treatment at the clinic after he became ill while returning from Italy where he had inspected Premier Mussolini's gigantic forestry system. He had gone to Italy on the invitation of the chief of that country's forestry service.

Author, as well as forestry expert, Mr. Barnjum of late resided at Annapolis, Maryland. His son was in Paris with him. The widow is at present in Lynnfield, Mass.

The fine 2,000-acre timber stand of the late F. J. D. Barnjum on Vancouver Island will be retained by the Barnjum Foundation Trust, of the presidency of which George Barnjum, a son, will ascend. It was stated by R. W. Hibberson, secretary of the trust and purchaser for the late Mr. Barnjum of the tract.

The land, exceptionally rich in timber, both very old and young growth, is situated about half way between Cowichan and Duncan in the Quamichan District. The Lower River Road passes through it and parts front on the water.

Monkey Scaled Dummy Funnel

Chinese Pet Escaped From Cage on S.S. Empress of Canada and Reaches Top of After Stack Before Being Recaptured.

Perched on the top of the dummy funnel of the liner Empress of Canada as she was pounding out twenty knots after getting clear of Yokohama, a refractory Chinese monkey, determined to resist capture, contributed to the amusement of the passengers on the homeward voyage. The incident was being laughed over when the ship docked here to-day.

Two monkeys were consigned by the Empress of Canada from China to Vancouver as pets. They were placed in a warm compartment on the deck where the galleys is located and attracted the attention of the crew chief, who saw they had delectable morsels to satisfy their appetites. One of the monkeys was in a spiteful mood and inclined to bite.

When a Chinese boy was engaged in cleaning out the cage the monkey used his teeth to advantage and escaped.

After a mad scramble through the ship's corridors it gained the deck and was finally located—perched on the top of the dummy stack, which is the after one of the three.

Having reached the highest point, outside of the masts, that it was possible to get, the monkey held on until a member of the crew climbed up the stack ladder and recaptured him.

He was back in the cage with his mate this morning, contritely munching his breakfast.

Man Who Tried To Kill U.S. President-Elect Laughs As He Is Led From Court

JANITOR FACES YEAR IN JAIL

Charles Leonard Sentenced For Thefts From Stores in the City

Betrayed Confidence of Employers, Magistrate Says in Fixing Term

Magistrate George Jay imposed a one-year term this morning in the City Police Court on Charles Leonard, janitor and newspaper collector, who had admitted four counts of theft from stores where he was employed or had visited.

The comments from the bench were brief.

"You must realize these are serious offences. In respect to some of the charges you were in a position of trust as an employee of the people from whom you stole, and you betrayed their confidence. The one factor in your favor which I will take into consideration is that you have no previous conviction other than an offence when you were a juvenile," he said.

The actual sentences imposed were: Theft from M. Clarke Ltd., over $10, one year; theft from the S. S. Kresge Co. Ltd., over $10, one year; theft from the Vancouver Drug Company, over $10, one year; theft from B. M. Clarke Ltd., under $10, six months. All terms will run concurrently.

The detective department had returned most of the stolen property to the respective owners to-day. Approximately $450 worth of goods was recovered, but the thefts, ranging over a considerable period, aggregated considerably more, police said.

AWARDED AIR FORCE MEDAL

SQUADRON-LEADER O. R. GAYFORD

London, Feb. 20.—The King, it was announced to-day, has approved award of the Air Force Cross to Squadron-Leader O. R. Gayford and a bar to the Air Force Cross to Flight-Lieutenant G. E. PRISONER LAUGHS
After the sentence was pronounced Zangara said: "Judge, how much you give me?" Zangara held up his fingers—eight of them.

"Oh, yes, don't be stingy. Four times twenty is eighty. Give me 100 years."

He laughed as he was hastily led from the courtroom by two deputies. He was taken back to the Dade County Jail.

Zangara was sentenced after he had pleaded guilty to the four charges and after he had referred to the judge his attempt on the life of President-elect Roosevelt had been unsuccessful. The most cheering news since they were shot down from the bed of the both Mayor Cermak and Mrs. Gill.

NEW QUARTERS FOR CAMPAIGN

Employment Plan Given Office Space in Central Building

Post Office Enlisted to Extend Campaign in Rural Districts

The Greater Victoria Emergency Employment plan campaign will be conducted from spacious ground-floor quarters in the Central Building. Free use of the store at the corner of View and Broad Streets, for as long as may be necessary, was this morning offered the committee by F. S. McPherson. The quarters will be occupied immediately.

R. H. B. Ker, president of the Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of the Employment Plan, announced the gift as providing a solution of a serious problem. "It was essential that the campaign be conducted from spacious downtown quarters, where discommodated. The Chamber of Commerce was able to provide quarters for the preliminary organization, but this gift by Mr. McPherson solves one of the most pressing problems," Mr. Ker said.

"This offer, providing us with the finest campaign headquarters we could have hoped for, is just one more instance of the fine support which is being aroused by this Greater Victoria Emergency Employment Plan. All southern Vancouver Island appears to have been waiting for some such central organization."

MAIL ALSO USED
Supplementing the work of more than 100,000 urban canvassers, the Post Office will distribute in rural districts 4,000 circulars and pledge cards. Preparation of this material has now been completed and will be distributed when the urban canvassers take the field next Monday.

CAMPBELL MAY RACE TO-MORROW

Daytona Beach, Fla., Feb. 20.—Winds and waves have conspired to keep Sir Malcolm Campbell from trying to break the land speed record he holds until to-morrow at the earliest.

He had planned to test out the adjustments made on his rebuilt racing automobile, Bluebird II, yesterday, but the condition of the sands prevented.

Sir Malcolm plans a test run just as soon as conditions are right, and will try to exceed his present speed record of 253.9 miles an hour shortly afterward if the test run is satisfactory.

RAIL MEN FIGHT CUT IN WAGES

Reported Running Trades Throughout Canada Reject Companies' Proposal

Montreal, Feb. 20.—The Montreal Star to-day said:

"The entire Montreal membership of the railway running trades, numbering more than 2,000 engineers, trainmen, conductors, telegraphers, engine men and firemen, have informed their general chairman not to accept the additional salary cut recently proposed by the two principal Canadian railroads."

"This was revealed to-day in the course of a survey of the vote taken by sixteen local divisions as part of a Dominion-wide referendum on the wage cut question which has been taking place during the last few days."

"The decision of the Montreal branches, together with the results of the vote taken elsewhere in Canada, will be made known to the company executives on Thursday of this week, when the union general chairman convene to reopen negotiations with the companies," said The Star.

Municipalities To Tackle Problems

Convention of Union Here Next Week Will Be Important One

Bitter Fight Over Proposed Cuts in Government Grants Expected

One of the most momentous sessions of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities in the history of the province, will open at the City Hall here on March 1, when delegates from every part of the province will meet to discuss many of pressing problems.

With the financial relationships between the provincial government and the municipalities holding the spotlight of discussions, it is possible some striking changes of policy may be mooted. The announced intention of the government to make another drastic slash in the grants to municipalities is certain to raise a storm.

Unemployment relief will be the other major point under consideration, while numerous resolutions covering tax relief for home-owners, moratoriums, lower interest rates are expected.

MOVES TO PAY BIG RANSOM

Denver, Colo., Feb. 20.—A week after Charles Boettcher was abducted from his home here his millionaire father, Claude K. Boettcher, to-day announced he had received communications which convinced him his son was alive and well. At the same time he announced he would henceforth conduct the case independently of the police.

Police Chief Albert T. Clarke and Police Commissioner C. E. Miller said they would not relax in their hunt for the extortionists.

Boettcher's announcement said letters from the abductees contained evidence which convinced him they were from his son. The condition and methods of payment of a $60,000 ransom, he said, he had told the abductees in a letter, were of such a nature they could not be carried out and there was offered no guarantee of the safe return of the thirty-one-year-old son of a wealthy pioneer Colorado family if the ransom were paid.

He revealed that in his letter to the criminals he had asked them to establish communication with a reliable intermediary for the return of his son and payment of the ransom, with assurance of no police interference.

Jack Forde, Victoria, in Second Place; Women Are Playing This Afternoon

Touring the sporty Oak Bay course in 70, which his handicap of nine reduced to a net 61, Gordon N. Money of Qualicum, was leading in the men's handicap championship of the fifth annual Empire mid-winter golf tournament which opened to-day at the Victoria Golf Club. Money appeared a certain winner of the medal honors, with only a few remaining players to check in with their cards. Bright sunshine flooding the course during part of the day and the weather conditions declared perfect.

The course was in fine shape for the first day's play and the scores were generally good.

The women's eighteen hole qualifying round was being played this afternoon.

Sixteen qualifiers for the men's open championship are also being decided by to-day's round.

Other events to be decided to-day are the inter-district team match for men over thirty-six holes and the local inter-club matches for both men and women.

Asks Judge at Hearing in Miami, Why He Does Not Make His Sentence 100 Years

Prisoner Is Sane, Declares Judge

Physicians Confident Mayor Cermak of Chicago Will Recover; Mrs. Gill of Miami Recovering

Associated Press
Miami, Fla., Feb. 20.—Giuseppe Zangara to-day was sentenced to eighty years in prison for his attack February 15 on President-elect Roosevelt, Miss Margaret Krus of Newark, N.J.; Russell Caldwell of Coconut Grove, Fla., and William Sinnott, New York policeman.

He was sentenced to twenty years on each of the four charges, which were attempts to murder, getting the maximum sentence in each case.

Zangara may yet be tried for murder. His pleas to-day did not cover the cases of Mayor Anton Cermak of Chicago and Mrs. Joe H. Gill of Miami, who are fighting for their lives in a hospital here.

PRISONER LAUGHS
After the sentence was pronounced Zangara said: "Judge, how much you give me?" Zangara held up his fingers—eight of them.

Better Times Are Near, Says Cullen

Chicago, Feb. 20.—Arthur W. Cullen, Canadian-born stock and grain trader, believes better times are ahead and the worst of the depression is over.

The United States Congress could do much to alleviate the situation by adoption of a four-point program, he says, as follows:

(1) Balance the budget; (2) reduce government expenses drastically; (3) refrain from interfering with business; and (4) levy no more additional taxes.

"Taxes to-day," he said, "are taking billions of dollars out of the channels of trade and preventing profits."

"When profits can not be made there can be no business."

Mr. Cullen, a native of Guelph, Ont., said he was optimistic for the future.

FRENCH TAX AND WAGE PROTESTS

Paris, Feb. 20.—Strike and government employees throughout France to-day defied the government and executed brief "warning" strikes in public services in protest against proposed wage cuts.

Street cars, buses and subways were halted for ten minutes to-day, causing a traffic jam.

Police were massed at strategic points and no disorder was reported.

Budget At Ottawa Next Week

Plans For Raising Revenue Are Being Whipped Into Shape

Expectations in Ottawa Are That Hon. E. N. Rhodes Will Deliver Budget Speech in Commons Within Fort-night

Ottawa, Feb. 20.—With the return of Hon. E. N. Rhodes, Minister of Finance, to his office today, the work of putting the finishing touches on Canada's 1933-34 budget was pressed. Preparations for presenting the budget are already well advanced and it will likely come next week.

This week finds several important committees of the Commons getting busy on serious work. The agricultural committee has before it the question of an investigation into the prices of milk and dairy products and also the general question of the spread between the prices of raw materials and finished products. When the banking committee begins its meetings it will tackle the problem of debt reduction and interest charges, passed on to it by a resolution from the House.

PENNY TAX URGED TO SAVE OPERA

Deenis Taylor Proposes Radio Hearers Should Contribute For Performances

New York, Feb. 20.—Deenis Taylor, composer and critic, offered a plan for a voluntary self-taxation of penny-a-performance by radio listeners as his solution for the financial difficulties of the Metropolitan Opera Association. Addressing the League for Political Education at the Town Hall, he suggested an association of those who listen to radio broadcasts of opera, possibly functioning through the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

"If it is worth $3 or $4 to hear opera 'in the flesh,'" he said, "why isn't it worth a cent to hear it over the radio?"

It is estimated that 4,000,000 or 5,000,000 people hear the Saturday radio broadcasts from the Metropolitan. If only a million of them gave a cent each, putting it aside in a coin bank to be collected and forwarded later, it would mean $10,000 which is about the cost of a performance. Then everything that came in from the audience at the opera house on these occasions would mean clear profit.

Reiterating his earnest hope that the Metropolitan would be continued, and praising the company as "the greatest opera company in the world," Mr. Taylor had nothing but scorn, however, for the directors of the Metropolitan. "They supported it loyally till 1910," he said, "and then they turned it over to Gatti-Casazza and gave him a $500,000 reserve fund and told him he must not go over that. For twenty-four years he made it break even, made it pay its way. Nobody knows how he did it; there has never been anything like it in the world."

"And up to last year the directors, during twenty-four years, never spent one cent. And now they allowed it to be said that 'they were weary of having to support the burden,' a burden which never confronted them during twenty-four years. You can't blame people for not having money, but you can blame them for not spending money for those who have supported it for the last twenty-four years, the opera goers."

"I think that you can have no confidence that the opera is going to be continued next year by those who have nominally supported it. If it is to go on it will have to have support from those who have supported it for the last twenty-four years, the opera goers."

There are not enough of them to make opera pay, he continued, so it will need to draw its support from the general theatre-going public. A great drawback toward getting more persons to go to the Metropolitan, he said, was the building itself. "Built to enable the audience to see each other," it was built for social purposes, he said, and serves these admirably, but of the 3,000 people it can hold, at least 1,000 cannot see any of the stage and 2,000 cannot see all of the stage.

The true function of opera, he held, was the presentation of drama, a certain type of drama, with music. He defined opera as emotional drama, a conflict of will and impulses, in contrast with the play, a conflict of clashing minds, and said that if people understood this and could have opera in their own language so that they could follow it with the dramatic interest sustained throughout, there would be audiences for opera.

Answering a question from the audience, he said that he saw no possibilities for opera at the Radio City Music Hall because of its size. The motion picture image on the screen, he explained, is enlarged with the distance of the machine from it, "but you can't stretch an opera singer." A theatre holding 6,700 persons, he said, "is a hippodrome, a convention hall, a movie house, but not a theatre nor an opera house."

Family in House Overcome By Gas

Moose Jaw, Sask., Feb. 20.—Seven people residing on a farm at Pasqua, seven miles east of here, yesterday were overcome by carbon monoxide gas believed to have seeped from a small generating plant in the basement of their home, but to-day they had fully recovered. The lives of Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Mackenzie and their family of four children were saved through the efforts of the hired man, Joe Dukburg. He came in from milking to find the family lying on the floor unconscious. Immediately he telephoned neighbors and when they arrived he himself had collapsed from the effects of the gas.

Dublin, Irish Free State, Feb. 20.—Frank McDermott, leader of the Gaelic party in the Dail Eireann, yesterday evening called on all members of the chamber to take a reduction in their indemnity to help finance the tariff war with the United Kingdom.

If the tariff war, which arose from the Free State's refusal to pay land annuities, the British government claimed were due the Bank of England, was to be continued, Mr. McDermott told the annual convention of the Roscommon Farmers' and Ratepayers' League, there must be done to equalize the burden between different sections of the community.

"I agree," he continued, "members of the Dail should have some recompense, but there should not be a sacred class when all others are suffering reductions."

Summit, N.J., Feb. 20.—Return of the Hohenzollerns to power in Germany was predicted yesterday by T. St. John Gaffney, former United States Consul-General in Munich and Dresden and frequent guest of Wilhelm Hohenzollern at Doorn, Holland.

Gaffney said the "Hapsburg coalition"—the fusion of the forces of Adolf Hitler and his Nazis with Dr. Alfred Hugenberg and the German National People's Party—was speeding up what he termed "a growing, solidifying nationalistic spirit that works for the return of the former Prussian ruling family."

"This return, I feel," said Gaffney, "will not be consummated by the former Emperor, himself, but rather by one of his sons."

"Wilhelm often told me," said Gaffney, "that he would never return to Germany unless at the invitation of the Reichstag or the cabinet."

FRENCH ARREST WOMAN AS SPY

Paris, Feb. 20.—The newspaper Petit Parisien to-day said Tunis authorities were investigating an attempt at espionage by a beautiful twenty-three-year-old woman of Italian nationality and Hungarian origin.

The newspaper said the woman, whose name was not given out, had been seized aboard a ship and that she lacked a ticket but carried a revolver although she had no permit to carry arms.

Through innocent members of the crew she is alleged to have obtained the acquaintance of aviation under-officers and obtained some "figures" from them. She seemed particularly interested in air manoeuvres, Le Petit Parisien reported.

Washington Police Question Jokers

Washington, Feb. 20.—Five men who were rounded up after police had found a letter saying that "if I set out to shoot the President I would undergo target practice a week in advance," were cleared of malicious intent and released yesterday evening by Washington police. It was decided the matter was just a joke.

The letter was found mis-addressed beside a street letter collection box and the five practical jokes were quickly rounded up.

TO FIGHT COLDS SAFELY use a SAFE mouth wash

Listerine kills germs yet does not irritate tissue

Millions of germs breeding in the mouth and throat are responsible for sore throat, colds, bronchitis, and pneumonia.

You do not need to be told that it's wise to use a mouth wash to kill these germs—but make sure that the mouth wash you use does not irritate tender tissue.

When harsh, superpowerful mouth washes irritate tissue, they encourage germ growth and infection instead of retarding them.

As an aid in fighting colds, rely on Listerine and Listerine only. While it kills germs, it does not irritate tissue. Millions have proved its swift germicidal action and have welcomed its bland, pleasant effect. Actual tests have shown that it reduces bacteria on mouth surfaces as much as 99%.

Choose Mouth Washes
Carefully—Some watered—
Others dangerous

Of 203 mouth washes submitted to laboratory examination, 94 were non-antiseptic, 107 could not kill germs in 3 minutes, 143 could not kill in one minute, others were so harsh they were dangerous to tissue, dozens had no deodorant effect whatever.

THE SAFE
ANTISEPTIC

As an aid in preventing colds, full strength Listerine should be used twice a day at least. When you feel a cold coming on, increase the frequency of the gargle. It often checks the development of a cold and keeps it from becoming serious.

Experiments have shown that those who gargled with full strength Listerine twice a day, contracted fewer colds than those who did not gargle with it. Moreover, their colds were of shorter duration and were less severe.

Ask for Listerine. Though inferior mouth washes may cost a few pennies less, there may be danger or doubt connected with their use. Listerine's results and safety are positive matters of record.

GOVERNMENT TO ASK FOR THIRD BLANK CHEQUE

Whether the people of Canada like it or not, the government at Ottawa is going to ask Parliament once more to extend its blank cheque legislation for another twelve months—until March 31, 1934. This legislation gives the government authority to do practically anything it thinks necessary to do to relieve unemployment and farm distress. For two years it has dealt with this country's gravest problem without any definite or co-ordinated programme.

It will be remembered that at the 1931 session of Parliament, Mr. Mackenzie King, leader of the Liberal opposition, urged the Prime Minister to appoint a competent non-partisan national committee to conduct a complete survey of the unemployment situation—at that time not nearly as serious as it is to-day—and then make its recommendations to the government. In this way it was felt there would be furnished adequate information upon which to formulate effective palliatives and a definite policy on which the taxpayers would be fully informed. Mr. Bennett was not interested in the opposition leader's proposal. When he reiterated his advice at last year's session of Parliament, Mr. King's words were merely wasted. The blank cheque was renewed. Unemployment in the meantime had doubled. But it was not thought worth while to stem the best brains of the country in an effort to enlist this rising tide of idleness.

Mr. Bennett, of course, relied entirely on his tariff increases to cut down unemployment and to increase the country's revenue. He was given ample warning that he was nursing an illusion. He increased the tariff when there were about 120,000 idle persons in Canada. He increased it again when about 250,000 workers had been compelled to lay down tools. He was still increasing it when the half million mark had been passed. We are now told that more than 700,000 persons are out of employment.

Revenues have been falling steadily from month to month in the last two years, largely in customs duties and from income taxation. Our external trade, upon which we depend to provide a great deal of our employment, and substantial returns from services rendered in the handling of exports and imports, for the twelve months ending last November totaled $968,400,000; by December 31, it had dropped to $946,423,000 and on January 31 to $929,944,000. Here is a decline of $38,000,000 in three months!

COMPILING THE AGENDA FOR THE WORLD CONFERENCE

The most important conference of an international nature to be held in modern times will be the World Economic Conference which will convene in the late spring or the early summer of the present year. For some weeks now a committee of experts has been busy formulating the agenda and the problems which are likely to arise as the various subjects are discussed by the delegates. The following table indicates the scope of the programme proposed:

- I.—MONETARY AND CREDIT POLICY
 1. Conditions under which a restoration of a free international gold standard would be possible.
 2. Currency policy to be followed prior to such restoration.
 3. Functioning of the gold standard.
 - (a) Relation between political authorities and central banks.
 - (b) Monetary reserves: (1) Lowering of cover ratio; (2) gold exchange standard; (3) other methods of economizing gold; (4) distribution of monetary reserves.
 - (c) Co-operation of central banks in credit policies.
 4. Silver.

- II.—PRICES
 1. Disequilibrium between prices and costs.
 2. Measures for restoring equilibrium.
- III.—RESUMPTION OF THE MOVEMENT OF CAPITAL
 1. Abolition of foreign exchange restrictions.
 2. Existing indebtedness: (1) Foreign short-term debts; (2) foreign long-term debts.
 3. Movements of capital.

- IV.—RESTRICTIONS ON INTERNATIONAL TRADE
 1. Economic causes and effects.
 2. Exchange control clearing agreements, etc.
 3. Indirect protectionism.
 4. Possibility of abolition of restrictions.

- V.—TARIFF AND TREATY POLICY
 1. Cessation of tariff increases.
 2. Reduction of tariffs.
 3. Special aspects of the tariff problem.
 4. Method of procedure.
 5. Most-favored-nation clause.
 6. Permanent exceptions.
 7. Temporary exceptions.

VI.—ORGANIZATION OF PRODUCTION AND TRADE

1. Economic agreements.
2. Wheat.
3. Other products.
4. Transport.

Whatever the spokesmen for the individual governments of the world may say, and there still persists an attempt to pursue nationalistic economic programmes, the solution of the universal problem will be provided only by international co-operation on the broadest possible lines. A unique opportunity will be presented for all the nations, large and small, to admit once and for all that the recent orgy of tariff wars has been responsible for much of the economic trouble through which the world is passing—and that no improvement will show itself until this question and allied questions have been tackled on the old-fashioned basis of live-and-let-live. To all governments by this time it surely has been made clear that when the inexorable economic laws are flouted they invariably exact a heavy price.

THE BISON—LONG MAY HE LIVE

Twenty years ago the buffalo had all but disappeared from the western plains. Men familiar with the situation estimated that the entire continent contained hardly more than two thousand of the animals.

To-day the bison has so increased in numbers that during the past year more than 1,400 of them were killed on Canadian and United States reservations, the income from hides and meat being used to defray the expenses of caring for the existing herds.

In this field the conservationists have scored a great success. The bison has adapted himself to civilization so well that, as a leading conservationist remarks, the big problem now is to find enough food and space for him.

And while most of us will live out our lives without so much as seeing a bison, except perhaps in a zoo, this achievement is a thing in which we can all rejoice. It means that one of the most fundamental features of the old-time west is being preserved. An animal that shaped the primitive civilization of half a continent is not to be allowed to die.

When the first white men got west of the Mississippi and the Great Lakes, they found practically all of the Indian tribes existing in a social organization which had been built up around the bison.

Those were the days when the "buffalo" herds were of simply incredible size. Millions upon millions of the shaggy animals roamed across the western plains. They were literally beyond counting. The earth shook with the thunder of their feet.

To the plains Indians these herds were the very staff of life. They provided the Indians with most of their food, their fuel and their clothing. Their migrations governed the movements of the tribes; their numbers determined the tribes' prosperity. What finally beat the Indians was not so much the guns of the white invaders as the fact that the bison were almost exterminated. The main prop of Indian society was knocked out and the end was inevitable.

And it is good now to learn that the bison is not going to disappear entirely. That clumsy-looking, heavy-headed animal is an integral figure of our great west.

THIS IS TIME FOR COMMONSENSE AND REASON

Hon. Mr. Guthrie's proposal to tighten up that section of the Criminal Code which deals with unlawful assembly is drawing the fire of a number of Canadian newspapers which refuse to be stampeded by the suggestion which the Minister sought to convey in the House of Commons the other day that there is a wild-eyed agent of Moscow round every corner. The Vancouver Daily Province, for example, thinks Mr. Guthrie left the impression that "you could not be concerned for freedom of speech or assembly in Canada at this time without laying yourself open to the charge of aiding and abetting the propaganda of the Red revolution." Our contemporary speaks thus:

The time has come when we have got to rid our minds of cant of all sorts and with whatever respectability it is uttered, if we are really to come to grips with our essential problems. We have no hesitation in telling Mr. Guthrie, for instance, that there is much more important work for himself and his colleagues in the government than that of getting up all spook-ridden over a few Communists. If Mr. Guthrie or a dozen ministers tell us that Canada is in any danger of going Red in the present troubles, we tell them that we don't believe a word of it.

If there were a million Communists in Canada—here in the point—there would still be left nine million of us who aren't anything but peaceable, loyal citizens, very troubled in our minds. We aren't troubling about the propaganda of Red revolution at all. We are the sort of people who hope and expect to maintain the integrity of the essential institutions to which we are used. We are the sort of people who believe in the wholesomeness of representative government, of private property, of the family, of liberty of conscience in religion and politics.

As we remarked in these columns a day or two ago, these are not normal times; there are thousands of people who do not know where the next meal is coming from. Neither Mr. Guthrie nor his colleagues in the cabinet at Ottawa can expect honeyed phrases from a man who is being gnawed by hunger. He has got to let off steam by word of mouth or explode in some other way. The only target he can see is the government—and the government can not evade its responsibility by calling him a "Red," or by applying tighter legal screws through the agency of an amended section of the Criminal Code.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

CANADIAN RADIUM
 The London Free Press

Canada will soon produce its own radium. It will be owned by the Ontario Government and will be used for the new cancer clinics which it is proposed to establish in the province. The new supply of radium is being produced by the Eldorado Gold Mines Limited, from ore obtained in the Great Bear Lake mining field, in the hinterland of the Northwest Territories. The ore is being refined at a plant the company has established at Port Hope. The price of the new Canadian radium has not been disclosed, but presumably it will be much below the present cost, which runs from $80,000 to $75,000 per gram.

RISE IN TIDE

BREWERS ARE so appalled, say the newspapers, at the "mounting tide of home brew" (you would think that every cellar was flooded with it, half way up the kitchen stairs) that they are ready to reduce the price of their product. But this is only half the terrible story of these times. A statesman who has studied the situation tells me that the depression has extended from the humble home brewer up to the aristocratic bibbler of the best spirits. "Men who used to buy the best Scotch," he told me with tears in his eyes, "now buy a cheaper grade of rye. Men who used to buy rye are drinking wine. Men who used to drink wine are making home brew. I tell you, it is terrible." He even suspected, he said, with a shudder, that some fellows who used to make home brew were drinking tea or even water. Our descendants a hundred years hence will never properly appreciate the bitter privations of their hardy ancestors during the Depression.

BUT WE are not through yet. Liquor sales have shrunk so much, the standard of living has declined so far, the necessities of life are so scarce, that the provincial treasury is highly embarrassed, and income taxes must be increased again. And the worst of it is that the public may acquire the habit of temperance permanently and persist in it even when good times return. Until British Columbians drink again in the good old patriotic fashion our budget can never be balanced. The real cause of the crisis, though economists have never suspected it, is this growing vice of sobriety. And the government, despite all its splendid efforts, can't seem to stop it.

POETRY, HAGGIS

I READ in the papers that a gentleman was addressing the Burns Club here the other night on the characteristics of the Scottish people. But I did not observe that he mentioned the one fact which explains all these characteristics at once, namely that there are Burns Clubs everywhere. Wherever two Scotsmen get together they form a Burns Club and cook a haggis for their more serious moments and run the entire community in their spare time. It is only the fact that there aren't enough Scotsmen to go round that has led the world into its present jack pot.

NOW THIS reverence for Burns as the great national figure, the first Scotsman, is a curious thing and the key to the Scottish character. The whole national spirit of a race which has gone everywhere and succeeded everywhere revolves around a poet. I can think of no other nation which worships a similar figure. When Englishmen settle down in foreign parts they never hear of them forming a Shakespeare Club, or a Keats Society, or a Chaucer Group, though it can be argued with success that all of those three were greater poets than Burns. (A statement which I should never venture to make if I weren't safe out here in the country and fairly Scotch myself.) Your Englishman will celebrate the birthday of a former conqueror or the victory of Trafalgar, or Derby Day. In the United States you never hear of the poets at all, only eminent politicians and generals.

BUT YOUR Scotsman is a deeper fellow. He could select from a thousand great warriors, statesmen and governors the world over, men who have dominated their fellows wherever they went; but instead, he chooses a poor singer with many human frailties. For your Scotsman who is supposed to be so hard-boiled and practical is secretly a poet at heart, and when he eats his haggis it is not for nourishment or pleasure (which you may suspect if you ever tried one), but because he can taste in it (though you might not) the flavor of glorious things that no one but Burns could put into words. Having thus feasted on haggis and poetry, your Scotsman goes out and makes monkeys of his hard-boiled and practical neighbors. It is the poetry, not the haggis, as some people suppose, that makes him great. The rest of the world, having neither, has to worship him, queens, politicians and generals.

VETERAN

THE PEOPLE of Colombia and Peru, it is reported, cheered in the streets the other day when war broke out between the two countries. South America saw little of the last excellent war, which evidently is a deep matter of regret to it. On the same day that the Colombians and Peruvians were reported as cheering for joy in the streets, a Canadian, a war veteran, who crawled back from Vimy with half a dozen bullets distributed all over him, wrote me to denounce "the foolishness of sticky sentimentality in discussing heroism in war." Telling the truth about war, he says, would do more to preserve peace than the League of Nations and all the statesmen. His indignation has been roused by Major-General Seely's book "Forever Engaged," in which he found the following passage: "During the three and a half years I was with them (the Canadian troops) I was, of course, quite close to hundreds of these men who were killed or mortally wounded. Never once did I hear them complain, swear, perhaps, but, strangely enough, not a single one of them ever said, 'I have saved a dying soldier on the battlefield, how he was. Always the same answer, 'he's all right.'"

MY CORRESPONDENT, who now has a boy of his own only a few years from military age, doesn't regard this as merely misleading. He says it is positively dangerous. "These," he says, "are the kind of words that find their way into history books and give the rising generation a picture to glorify and perpetuate war. And, strangely enough, thousands of adults, too, will accept the General's picture without question. They may even believe that soldiers, mortally wounded, with shattered limbs, greeted the gentleman with the brass band, sprang smartly to attention and saluted as they said, 'Fine, sir,' when the General asked the very unnecessary question, 'How are you?'"

CIVILIANS who believe this kind of tripe and look forward to the next war with composure (because they won't be in it and their treasure will be safe while men's lives are conscripted) ought to imagine, says my correspondent, "how they would act if they were snatched up in a motor car by a wonder boy of them, would answer, 'Fine, sir.' Well, one can only deplore the Canadian soldier's lack of respect for wise generals who have gone literary and written foolish books."

THE DOWNWARD move in the price of food products, as predicted by The Times, is going on steadily. There is very little upward move in anything, but scarcely a week passes without one or two staples going lower.

it was supposed to be a pig, but they're all the same to him. He calls everything a cow, even my Aunt Edith. I guess he's got a hundred cows in his bed by now. How'd you like to have a hundred cows in your bed, eh? And with only three legs each?"

The Agent of Marine and Fisheries at this port has received the information through the lightkeeper at Portlier Pass, of the existence of a reef in the Straits of Georgia, with less than two fathoms on it and marked by light kept at low water.

The C.P.R. steamer Amur on her last trip took north a large quantity of machinery for the Canadian Pacific Railway Sulphite Pulp & Paper Company at Swanton Bay. The company has a large staff of men working there now.

The budget speech is expected to be delivered in the Legislature this afternoon by Hon. R. H. Tatlow. Falling business proceedings satisfactorily allow of that the budget will be brought down to-morrow.

There was a large turnout last evening at the annual meeting of the Canadian Club, held in the City Hall with President A. W. McCurdy in the chair. There was much enthusiasm shown and considerable discussion on the subjects which were brought before it. Over sixty new members were received, showing that the club idea is popular.

The downward move in the price of food products, as predicted by The Times, is going on steadily. There is very little upward move in anything, but scarcely a week passes without one or two staples going lower.

CHINA FRIENDLY TOWARDS CANADA

Increased Trade Between Two Countries Is Predicted By O. A. Jorgenson

Member of B.C. Pulp and Paper Company Back After Making Business Contacts

Canada is in an excellent position to greatly benefit through trade with China when the disturbed situation is cleared up in the Far East, in the opinion of O. A. Jorgenson, treasurer of the British Columbia Pulp and Paper Company, who returned here to-day on board the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Canada.

He has been in the Orient during the last five months making business contacts. "The Chinese are very friendly towards Canadians and this attitude will doubtless be reflected by increased business with this country as soon as things become more stable over there," said Mr. Jorgenson.

He visited all the important trade centres in China, and during his extended stay in the country had an opportunity of studying the future trend of business. Chinese business leaders assured him of their interest in Canada and the desire to do more trading with this country in the future.

The British Columbia Pulp and Paper Company has in the last few years developed its business in the countries of the Orient. While he declined to discuss details of his tour, Mr. Jorgenson said he was well satisfied with results. His company believes in establishing personal business contacts and at least one member of the firm makes annual trips to the Orient.

Sailing from here, last fall by the Empress of Japan, Mr. Jorgenson visited Yokohama, Tokio, Kobe, Osaka, Shanghai, Hongkong and Manila. He wanted to return by the Empress of Canada, which has just completed her annual visit to the Takoo dock at Hongkong.

ST. MATTHIAS' TROOP

The regular weekly meeting was held last week at the St. Matthias' Hall, corner of Lillian Road and Richmond Avenue.

After the opening, the patrols went to their corners for instruction. Then sides were chosen and a snowball fight was held outside.

Florence Robertson and Roy Gibbs, who have both put forth untiring efforts toward the success of the concert the troop gave recently, were presented with small tokens of the scout's gratitude. A vote of thanks was also extended to the parents who loaned costumes and furniture and helped otherwise.

The troop is now the proud possessor of a new football. Major Wise gave it its first kickoff at Central Park Saturday morning, and the troop proceeded to win their game.

FIRST CATHEDRAL TROOP
 On Friday evening the troop held an enjoyable meeting. Songs, yells and staff drill were practiced for the banquet in the Memorial Hall on February 24, at 7:30 o'clock. A hike is planned for the troop some evening after the banquet. The duty patrol for the banquet will be the Moose patrol.

POLICE CHIEF DELAYS CHANGE

Cameron Still Heads Royal City Force; Awaits Settlement of Vancouver Tangle

Canadian Press
 New Westminster, Feb. 20.—Pending a settlement of the legal tangle that surrounds the chief of police appointment in Vancouver, Chief John Cameron is remaining as head of the New Westminster force. After his appointment as Vancouver chief of police it was tentatively arranged that Chief Cameron should submit his resignation immediately to the New Westminster police commission. Mayor A. Wells Gray, M.P., chairman of the commission, had planned to call a special meeting of the commission late Saturday.

When the maze of legal difficulties arose Saturday, however, no formal resignation was submitted by Chief Cameron and no commission meeting was held. Resignation of the chief of police it is understood, will remain unsettled until the Vancouver troubles are cleared out. In the meantime the police commission will stand by to act whenever Chief Cameron does place his resignation in its hands.

CLEAN PRESS FOR CANADA

Department of Censorship at Ottawa Needed, Says Canadian Press President

Canadian Press
 Montreal, Feb. 20.—A department of censorship at Ottawa to "put its foot down on the wanton, planned and cunningly cultivated indecency offered for sale in printed word and picture by certain newspaper groups that have the entry to Canada," was advocated to-day by M. E. Nichols, president of the Canadian Press, in an address before the Canadian Club here.

"Some day," he said, "I sincerely hope we may have in Ottawa a government wise enough and bold enough to set up a department of censorship. The censorship I have in mind would not seek to regulate the printed word or the spoken word of wild men, but it would not exempt itself from concern in the sayings or doings of political agitators or any other kind of agitators. It would be a censorship for reasonable cleanliness, and nothing more."

Mr. Nichols, vice-president and managing director of the Winnipeg Tribune, took as his subject the mechanics of censorship. He pointed out that the Canadian Press is clean, but that the life of the day and generation. They cannot altogether ignore the indecencies of social life, but they do not exploit it. They do not commercialize it. They do not dig for it. They draw the kind of picture wherever it can be drawn. The press of Canada, taking it all in all, is the cleanest press to be found anywhere in the world.

"I wish I could say as much for some of the newspapers of alien origin that find their way into this country," he said. "I wish I could say as much for some of the newspapers of alien origin that find their way into this country. I wish I could say as much for some of the newspapers of alien origin that find their way into this country. I wish I could say as much for some of the newspapers of alien origin that find their way into this country."

JAPAN SUBJECT

Mme. Vivenot Speaks From Personal Knowledge of Country For L'Alliance

A lecture of historic value and spiritual beauty was given by Mme. Vivenot, at Saturday evening when she spoke at Victoria College under the auspices of L'Alliance Francaise on the subject of Japan, choosing as her title "Le Japon de l'Extremite Orientale." Mrs. A. E. Stevens, acting president introduced the speaker, and Mrs. M. Little expressed the appreciation and pleasure of the large audience in unique treatment of the subject and the many charming lantern slides with which it was illustrated.

Madame Vivenot, who lived for many years in Japan, reviewed with skill the early history of the country during the nine periods or epochs into which it has been divided by the historians, beginning six centuries before Christ. The speaker referred to the subject in finding authentic information about the country and the people, so much of the literature given to tourists had been prepared by persons who had spent but a few months in Japan and published their impressions. One exception she had found to this, in the work of the Japanese, the English professor in the University of Tokyo, who in his writings "Glimpses of Ancient Japan," etc., has sounded the depths of the spirit of old Japan, and the soul of its ancient and primitive civilization. He had adopted the religion of Japan, the manners and customs of the Japanese, and when married to a Japanese he also took the name of his wife's family, Kozum, she noted.

The Korean influence of the second epoch when agriculture, commerce and the various avocations of the artisan were taught to the Japanese, as a result of the Korean expedition by their Empress, brought the silk industry also, and rapid progress in science and the art of Chinese writing. Until this time there had been only the spoken word. The birth of Buddhism in Japan and the arts of sculpture and painting were dealt with in the third epoch. The rise of the nobility, the division of the country into provinces governed by dignitaries chosen from the noble families, the founding of the ancient capital of Nara, and the growth of the noble family to include nine families in which the emperor must find his choice of his wife, all occurred during this epoch. Sixty-four beautiful views were shown on the screen, portraying in delicate colorings the beauty spots of Japan, as well as many intimate family pictures of the life of the people.

Mrs. Robbins Sues Insurance Company For $4,000 Damages For Watson Family

Kathleen Elizabeth Robbins, widow of 2933 Pout Bay Road, with R. E. Maitland, K.C., as her counsel, to-day opened her suit before Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald in the Supreme Court against the Consolidated Fire and Casualty Company for the payment of automobile accident indemnities as follows: Herbert Douglas Watson, $1,500; Emily Watson, $500, and R. A. Watson, $1,500.

Mrs. Robbins took the stand and testified she had taken out insurance against automobile accident liability with the Merchants and Employers Guarantee and Accident Company. This company, however, sold the policy contract in July, 1931, to the Consolidated. By a judgment of April 25, 1932, Mr. Justice Murphy, as a result of an accident with her car, awarded the three Watsons damages against her as set out, and these damages the insurance company had contracted to assume under the terms of its policy agreement with her. However, the company had neglected to pay the indemnification and so it was necessary to sue.

Mr. Maitland called also as witness H. A. Beckwith and Frank Higgins, K.C.

Alfred Bull, K.C., conducting the defence, informed the court the insurance company was not liable because of statutory breaches made by Mrs. Robbins in the policy contract.

The trial is continuing.

TAX AIR NEXT, JUDGE FEARS

Appeal Court Justices Hear Argument For Sustaining Fuel Oil Levy

One-half Cent Assessment on Consumer Legal, Government Lawyer Argues

H. B. Robertson, K.C., counsel for the B.C. Government, continued his fight before the Court of Appeal here to-day to get reversed the Supreme Court decision of Chief Justice Morrison outlawing the B.C. fuel oil tax of one-half cent a gallon as ultra vires of the province because it is indirect taxation.

"Some day we may be taxed for the air we consume," said Mr. Justice McPhillips, dealing with the tendency of governments in their rush to get money to exceed their legal powers at the expense of the ordinary citizen.

If the outlawing of the fuel oil tax is sustained, then the provincial government would not have the legal right to collect its personal property tax on foreign goods on the shelves of shops here, simply because these foreign goods are coming in as paid-duties.

Mr. Robertson argued the present fuel oil tax under the arrangement worked out by the government after previous fuel oil taxes had been ruled out was a direct tax on the consumer.

"We must not look at the private arrangement, but at the general tendency of the tax," he said.

"If the province is going to be handicapped in this way, it cannot impose duties on goods coming from abroad, then the Dominion by exercising its jurisdiction could paralyze the province completely," said Mr. Justice McPhillips.

Outlining the province's powers, Mr. Justice McPhillips pointed out that the provincial government "can take A property and give it to B and not pay A one cent of compensation."

VICTORIA GIRL WED SATURDAY

Miss Margaret McIntlock Married in Vancouver to Ross J. Atkins

A quiet wedding of interest to many Victorians took place in Vancouver on Saturday at 6.30 p.m. when Rev. H. T. Keeling of St. John's Church, Shaughnessy, united in marriage Margaret McIntlock of Victoria, second daughter of Mrs. M. J. McIntlock of Ballymena, County Antrim, Ireland, and the late Mr. T. McIntlock, to Ross John Atkins of Vancouver, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Atkins of Epping, Essex, England.

The bride looking smart in a wine serge suit trimmed with mink fur and felt hat en suite, and wearing a corsage bouquet of white carnations, was given in marriage by Mr. A. H. Dobson of Victoria. She was attended by Miss Isabel Dallan of Victoria, who wore a tailored suit of imperial blue tweed, with ribbon hat to match, with which was worn a brown fox fur and corsage bouquet of pink carnations.

Mr. Harvey Dobson of Vancouver, officiated as best man.

Following the ceremony a dinner was served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hensley, the table being decorated with daffodils and tall yellow tapers and a cake with a two-tier wedding cake. Mr. and Mrs. Atkins will reside in Kerrisdale, Vancouver, B.C.

RESUME EFFORT FOR SUBSIDY

Chamber of Commerce Told British Coal Regarded As Ballast

"Rejection by Ottawa of claims for a subsidy to the Victoria Cold Storage and Terminal Warehouse Company Limited is not even the first round of the battle. We shall continue the fight," D. McBride, manager of the company, this afternoon told the directors of the Chamber of Commerce.

Advices from Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce, and Hon. Robert Weir, Minister of Agriculture, that the application for a subsidy could not be countenanced because it was made after the completion of the building, were countered by W. T. Straith and Mr. McBride, who said that formal application for aid had been filed before the building was completed.

In December, 1928, a second formal application was made for general aid. Mr. McBride stated.

"The delay was at the other end, not here," Mr. Straith said.

A letter from Mr. Stevens brought the matter to the attention of the chamber. He wrote that a memorandum from the chamber was apparently part of an organized campaign to obtain a subsidy which could not legally be given. This view was supported by a letter from Mr. Weir.

The monthly general meeting of the Tuberculosis Veterans will be held Thursday night at 8 o'clock at their headquarters, 1015 Blanchard Street. H. D. Patterson of the Emergency Unemployment committee will address the meeting.

A DENIAL

To the Editor:—Regarding a statement appearing in The Vancouver Province of yesterday's date attributed to Mr. Robert Macnicol, provincial secretary, Canadian Legion that he was in favor of a 10 per cent cut in pensions paid to war pensioners, the Victoria District Council was assured by Mr. Macnicol this morning that he made no such statement, the gist of his remarks being that before such economies are adopted by the federal government, a fruitful field of revenue might well be obtained from those individuals who profited to excess during war time.

For the information of all veterans who may by chance have read this statement in the Victoria District Council would appreciate if you would kindly give the foregoing some measure of publicity.

C. A. GILL, Secretary, Victoria District Council.

Ring Loses Colorful Figure in Passing of James J. Corbett

Victory Over Sullivan Upheld in New Era of Heavyweights

Was Considered the Cleverest and Fastest of All Big Fellows

SATURDAY saw the passing of one of the ring's most colorful figures, in the person of James J. Corbett, former world heavyweight champion. From 1892 to 1897 Corbett was the most idolized of all heavyweight titleholders. This was the period between his famous victory over the great John L. Sullivan at New Orleans and his defeat by Bob Fitzsimmons at Carson City, Nevada. Corbett was a very dashingly handsome fellow, a very handsome fellow, keen and active and at home in any company. He was the direct opposite of the sullen, morose Sullivan. Before Corbett's time most of the champions were bar-room fighters. There was nothing of that type about Corbett. In fact, when William Brady invented that title for Corbett it stuck because Corbett was so different from the brawling fighters the public had known.

Corbett revolutionized boxing. Before his time the successful fighter was usually a tough fellow who depended upon his slugging ability and made little use of the art of self defence. Sullivan was the greatest example of this type. Between fights he spent his time carousing around the United States, drinking heavily, getting fat and out of condition. Every time he fought he had to go through a siege of heavy training to remove the effects of dissipation before he was fit to go into the ring. Many others followed Sullivan's example. But Corbett set a new style. As champion, and afterward, he was always in tight training. He drank very little. He never wasted time on bar-room society. He was too intelligent for that.

It was Corbett's intelligence that made him a great fighter. He was the cleverest heavyweight boxer in history. His keen brain, perfect co-ordination and amazing speed of hand and foot put him in a class by himself among heavyweights. He was as fast as a light-weight, and the hardest man in the world to hit. He could shoot a glove through an opening so fast that the first warning was the jarring impact of his gloved fist.

Corbett wasn't a slugger. He didn't knock his man cold with one punch. But he could land a score of blows without receiving one in return. In the Sullivan fight he danced around John L. and avoided John's savage rushes and wild swings until Sullivan became arm and leg weary and Sullivan didn't land a solid blow on him. Corbett's swift jabs at the face and hard drives into the stomach cut John to pieces and left him woozy, groggy and bewildered, and then Jim knocked him out. It was an absolutely scientific proposition. Corbett had boxed an exhibition with Sullivan in San Francisco, knew how to beat him and did it. He was as cool as ice when he was in a training bout. And when Corbett finally cut loose and smashed Sullivan until he was helpless to the floor, the crowd gave the new champion an ovation that was heard around the world. The day revolutionized boxing. During Corbett's career as champion all boxers tried to be like Corbett. Boxing became an art instead of an imitation of a dogfight. Corbett lost the title to Fitzsimmons on a knock-out.

Corbett's most heroic performance was when he tried to retrieve the championship from Jim Jeffries, who had whipped Fitzsimmons. He trained almost a year, and looked a point winner up to the twenty-third round, when Jeffries got over the knockout punch. After a return fight in which he was knocked out in ten rounds, Corbett retired, and for many years afterward was a very popular ex-champion and a successful actor and monologue artist. All his fighting he carried no mark to show he had ever been in the ring.

Babe Pinelli, former infielder for Cincinnati, Detroit and the Chicago White Sox, known as the nemesis of umpires for a long time, is now an umpire in the Pacific Coast League.

Eddie Shore holds the all-time hockey penalty record. He was barred a total of 165 minutes during the 1927-1928 season of the National Hockey League.

There'll be a bit more color in baseball when the season gets under way at Baltimore this year. The reason is that Charles Albert Bender, the same "Chief" who used to pitch for the Athletics, has been signed as coach of the Orioles. The Indian hurler has been selling sports goods in Philadelphia for some time.

Lake Hill Takes Three Hoop Games

At the Lake Hill gym on Friday night home teams won three games from visiting squads. The Maroons went down to defeat by a score of 20 to 24. The Lake Hill K. of P. had to put up a fine brand of ball to beat the Chemalunsi intermediate team. The up-land boys had lots of speed and only had luck at the baskets. The Chemalunsi team was a 48 to 7 score. In the last game the Camer Lumber men lost a fast game to local senior team, 25 to 23.

Americans Dampen Ottawa's Chances

Rangers Turned Back Canadiens Saturday; Toronto Bolsters Group Lead

If anything is certain in the National Hockey League's closed season, Toronto Maple Leafs will carry the Canadian section bid to the league play-offs.

The pursuing Montreal Maroons, only Canadian rival of the Leafs with a dozen or so games left to play, dropped a point further behind yesterday evening when they were held to a scoreless tie by Chicago Black Hawks. Toronto won from Detroit Red Wings, 4 to 1, Saturday night to pull four games ahead of Maroons, but the defeat put Jack Adams' team in such battling mood they bowled over Boston Bruins, 2 to 1, at Detroit yesterday evening to regain the leadership.

The Leafs' "kid" line held the upper hand over the Wings as Harvey Jackson and Joe Primeau each scored. King Clancy scored one and the fourth fell to Bob Gracie.

Late in the third period the Wings broke through and Stew Evans scored on his own rebound.

Before a home crowd yesterday, Detroit stopped the Bruins with a stern defence. Carl Voss engineered both Wing goals, aiding Herbie Lewis with the first and passing to Larry Aurie for the second.

Bruins reduced the margin early in the third period when Joe Lamb whipped home Nels Stewart's pass. Maroons took a neat territorial lacing from the Black Hawks, but young Dave Kerr turned in one of the season's outstanding goaling feats to turn back the Gorman shotmints without a score.

New York's double entry dimmed hopes of the Canadiens and Ottawa of reaching play-off heights. Rangers delivered an upsetting 3 to 1 setback to Canadiens Saturday night at Montreal, and Americans won 3 to 1 from the Senators yesterday evening.

Detroit, Feb. 20.—Detroit Red Wings won from the Canadiens and Ottawa yesterday evening by downing Boston Bruins 2 to 1.

Both squads set up a terrific pace throughout. The Wings scored in the first and second periods. Lewis and Aurie tallying, before the Bruins opened a third period spurt that kept the crowd on its feet. Joe Lamb got the victory with a one-point lead.

The victory gave Detroit a one-point lead over the New York Rangers, their rivals for league leadership, and four points over the third place Bruins.

NANAIMO AND SAINTS DRAW

Play to 3 to 3 Deadlock in Pacific Coast Football League Match

Special to The Times
Nanaimo, Feb. 20.—Overcoming a two-goal lead, Nanaimo City played a 3 to 3 draw with St. Salvours in a Pacific Coast League game here yesterday. The ground was heavy and prevented fast soccer. The Saints took the lead after ten minutes of play, Watson scoring after misunderstanding between local backs. Edwards increased the lead after five minutes, scoring on a fine solo run.

The Saints' forwards played snappy ball, keeping the local defence busy. Fybus, Nanaimo's new goalie, was called upon to clear several hard shots.

Nanaimo took offensive and had hard luck when Green and White graced the locals kept up pressure and their efforts were rewarded when Watson broke away and scored after a brilliant individual effort. Encouraged by success Nanaimo bombarded the Saints' goal, but could not score.

Half time found the Saints leading, 2 to 1. On resuming, Nanaimo attacked and White replaced Bell, scored with a hard drive, tying the score. Both teams fought doggedly for lead, end to play resulting. After twenty minutes play, Sandland made a fine run on the left wing and crossed to Kulai, who drove the ball past Alsbury, giving Nanaimo the lead. Shortly after, White again hit the post with the goalie well beaten. The Saints staged several attacks on Nanaimo goal, but were well held by English and Edmunds, with five minutes to go, Moffatt crossed to the wing and scored, but the final whistle blew before the ball crossed the line.

Kilmarnock Get Breaks in Defeating Rangers in Scottish Cup Feature

Luton, Feb. 20.—Four strong first division clubs today stood out as favorites to reach the English Cup final at Wembley. From among Everton, Manchester City, Sunderland and Derby County, experts believed, will come the two teams who will battle for the premier trophy of the soccer world before approximately 93,000 people on April 29.

Manchester City will enter the sixth round as sole representatives in the eight teams who reached that stage last year. All others, including the mighty Arsenal, have fallen by the wayside this season.

League Games

While Cup teams were battling to escape elimination, a few league out-lets staged encounters. Huddersfield Town scored a surprising 3 to 0 victory over the first division runners-up, Aston Villa, and Leicester City defeated Liverpool, 2 to 1, in another first division upset.

Leeds had the better of the opening play at Everton, where 35,000 people saw the game, but the home team improved. Dean scored after thirty-eight minutes of play and Stein made it 2 to 0 an hour and fifteen minutes after the start.

Fifty thousand people, the largest crowd at Bolton since the same teams met in a 1925 cup game, sat in a blinding snowstorm and saw the Wanderers beaten by Manchester City. Brooks staged the hat-trick for Manchester, scoring three of their goals and Westwood got the other. Millions felled both Bolton's. Twenty-four minutes from the start Milson scored his first but Brooks tied it up six minutes later. Bolton took the lead again in two minutes but Manchester took control

DR. DEVORA IN FINE VICTORY

New York Wrestler Whips H. Olsen on Local Card At Karasick Winner

While his half dazed opponent was unable to offer any resistance a wrestling physician with the manners and appearance of a polite young curate delivered the most deliberate and calculated defeat to a husky 190-pound Norwegian matman Saturday at the Pacific stadium ever since the game was introduced to Victoria.

The defeat was administered by Dr. Devora, New York, to Herman Olsen in the fifth round of a scheduled six-round go, and left Olsen outside the ring, dead to the world to be packed out on the shoulders of three men.

The doctor weighed 180 pounds and the Norwegian 190. Except for wonderful arm and shoulder development the doctor had none of the earmarks or signs of a wrestler. The two headed referee, broke clean and generally gave a fine exhibition of clever wrestling. There was just a couple of occasions when Devora thought Olsen was transgendered and then he put his head on one side, shook a finger at the Norwegian and chided him in a manner that had the wit in the crowd deriding him with cries of "naughty boy, naughty boy."

But Devora showed there was no satisfaction in his defeat of Olsen. He took a lot of punishment through three swift rounds. In the third Olsen made the doctor tap the mat in a split hold.

The surprise came in the fifth. Devora made Olsen dizzy with a series of headlocks. Then he coolly lifted him against the ropes, pressed him back, then flicked the top strand, catapulting the Norwegian forward and with a flick of his leg he went saw that he landed on his neck. The timing was perfect. Then he picked him up and repeated the performance on the ropes on all sides of the ring half a dozen times. The last time Olsen shot clean through the ropes and knew nothing about the affair until he came to in his dressing room.

Al Karasick beat August Sepp with falls in the fourth and fifth. A Boston star had the wit in the crowd deriding him with cries of "naughty boy, naughty boy."

Tiger Martin, Nanaimo, and Bill Owen, Vancouver, presented a good preliminary which ended in a draw.

NANAIMO KEEPS BADMINTON CUP

Nanaimo, Feb. 20.—Two hundred spectators witnessed the annual inter-club upper island badminton tournament Sunday between seven clubs from Nanaimo, Royston, Parksville, Eriston and Courtenay.

Nanaimo retained the championship cup, winning three games out of five Royston won the remaining two. Games were closely contested and local players were hard put to retain the laurels. A feature of the tournament was splendid showing of the Errington club, fighting its way into semifinals in every competition.

Lou Marsh Saves Boy in Icy Water

Toronto, Feb. 20.—Pivoting fully clothed into the chill waters of Lake Ontario, Lou Marsh, sports editor of The Toronto Star, rescued a nine-year-old boy who had ventured on a floating cake of ice in Lake Ontario Saturday. Marsh, athletic despite his fifty or more years, waded 150 feet to bring Billy Vaughan to shore when it seemed the youngster would be carried far out into the lake.

after that and scored three goals while holding their opponents scoreless. Aldershot were unlucky to lose to Derby County after they had held them scoreless in the first half. Crooks was prominent for the County, although Bower scored both their goals. Twenty-eight thousand people attended.

The largest crowd of the season, approximately 15,000, was present. The start was good. Sun Dot breaking in front, Quickaway soon pulled into lead, opening a gap of about three lengths on Sun Dot by the time the turn was reached. At that point Tea Trader was hit, with Lemon Hills trailing. Sun Dot made a gallant challenge at the head of the stretch, but Jockey Charlie Scott, with lash whip, sent Quickaway into a comparatively easy victory.

Quickaway Sets New Track Mark

Captures Invitational Six Furlong Feature at Agua Caliente in Fast Time of 1:10 2-5; Sun Dot Places Second; Tea Trader in Last Position

Agua Caliente, Mexico, Feb. 20.—Agua Caliente, Mexico, Feb. 20.—Quickaway won his sixth straight race here yesterday and set a new track record of 1:10 2-5 in winning the Invitational Handicap, over six furlongs which matched him with Sun Dot, Lemon Hills and Tea Trader, the sprinter imported from New Zealand.

Sun Dot was second, a length and a half behind the thoroughbred which John D. Spreckels III claimed from Jim Headley of Kentucky a few weeks ago. Lemon Hills finished with a rush to put Tea Trader in last place. A special purse of $1,500 was posted for the invitational feature.

The largest crowd of the season, approximately 15,000, was present. The start was good. Sun Dot breaking in front, Quickaway soon pulled into lead, opening a gap of about three lengths on Sun Dot by the time the turn was reached. At that point Tea Trader was hit, with Lemon Hills trailing. Sun Dot made a gallant challenge at the head of the stretch, but Jockey Charlie Scott, with lash whip, sent Quickaway into a comparatively easy victory.

Tea Trader was brought from New Zealand by D. J. Davis, who imported "Har Lap" last year, as a companion to "How Light," which will run in the 6,000 Agua Caliente handicap on March 26. "Tea Trader," with "Johnny Chin," six covering, Scutari, Ollie, Mailly, dais, Brillante, Cervex.

Quickaway's record: 1:10 2-5. Also ran: Huen, Kapana, Barbados.

Flot J.B.A.A. Backfield Gives Club City Rugby Title

Oarsmen Overcome Wanderers To End Season Undeclared

Score 28 to 0 Victory Over Oak Bay Boys; Addison Gains Three Tries

FIELD GOAL BY LATTI FEATURE

Scottish Beat Navy 5 to 3; Wanderers, Fifth; University School and Bays Win

A driving, fleetfooted backfield that tore through the opposing squad and kept scoring in spite of poor passing, gave Bob McInnes' undefeated James Bay Athletic Association, emblematic of the city championship, with a 28 to 0 victory over the Oak Bay Wanderers at the Royal Athletic Park on Saturday.

In the other first division tussle, which had no bearing on the league leadership, Canadian Scottish pounded out a 5 to 3 verdict against the Navy at Oak Bay Park.

While the Bays uncorked some pretty backfield work to score their win, and the oarsmen's forwards did their fair share in gaining the laurels, Bill Latti stood out as the star of the game as the result of a forty-yard field goal he put over thirty seconds from the end. It was one of the finest drops in play seen here since Wally Brynjolfsson converted his famous kick against the New Zealand All-Blacks in ancient history.

SCORES THREE

The winged feet of Joe Addison, island spring king, counted for a lot in the rowing club's triumph. Fed well by his inside, Addison used his speed to rack over for three tries. Lemm did all the converting.

Although scored against a minute and one-half after the start of the game, the Wanderers continued to fight back and count down to the final whistle. But they had little more than fight in the team.

After the first kick exchange Patrick took the ball on the Bays' thirty-five, ran through and passed to Turner who made a pretty opening and threw out to Addison on the wing. Addison streaked down, went over the line and circled to place the ball between the posts. Lemm converted.

Shortly after the Bays threw away a try when Stephens whipped the ball to Patrick who went through to the Wanderers' fullback and passed forward to Dunn. King led a rush down the Oak Bay boys but Latti cleared KICK DISALLOWED.

Haines kicked to the J.B.A.A. ground and the Wanderers exerted pressure until Addison got the ball near mid-field and reeled off on a wing run to score again. The kick failed and the Wanderers had charged and the second attempt, which went over the bar, was disallowed when the ball was grounded.

The Oak Bay boys, their scrum batting doggedly, gained the rowing club's ground.

Again Addison got away on an outside kick by Turgoose. He was stopped before he could get over.

Carmichael cleared nicely with a punt to the Bays' twenty-five. The Wanderers maintained pressure in scrums until Acland kicked over the oarsmen's line to put the ball out to touch.

Jack Dunn sprinted through on a solo run that looked like a try, but fell when he tried to assure himself of the Wanderers' fullback. Murray kicked over the Oak Bay line but was beaten to the ball.

At half time the score was 8 to 0 for the Bays.

After the interval the Wanderers tried hard and several times came close to the oarsmen's line. Haines missed a cross kick on the Bays' twenty-five and Hunningham gathered the ball. He went down the wing and threw inside to the forwards. They pushed down to the Oak Bay ground where Usher picked up and passed to Good who threw to Dunn. Dunn went over for a try. Lemm missed the kick which came twenty minutes from half time.

Turgoose kicked over the deadline as the J.B.A.A. returned to the attack. Patrick and Addison went away on a good wing run to the Oak Bay flag following the clearance kick. Latti just missed a penalty drop goal shortly after, when one of the Wanderers handled in the loose.

EASY TRY

Still on the attack the Bays swept through to the Wanderers' twenty-five. Hunningham kicked over their line and Dunn ran through to touch the ball down for another try while the Oak Bay boys were looking at it. The kick failed.

On one of the nicest individual runs of the day, Hunningham took a pass near mid-field, ran down the wing, drew Thornbury out in and reeled over for another tally, which Lemm converted a minute and one-half after the previous score.

Hunningham, Pettigrew and Addison combined on the next run when put Addison across and Lemm converted to raise the count to 24 to 0.

Haines led a dangerous kick and ran attack to the Bays' flag as the Wanderers went on their final offensive thrust. He tried a drop for goal when the Oak Bay boys gained a kick and the Wanderers forced a five-yard scrum in front of the posts before Jack

English Cup Draw Is Made

London, Feb. 20.—A battle royal between Sunderland and Derby County, high-ranking first-division soccer aggregations, opened the feature of the quarter-final round of the English Cup, announced today.

The draw follows:

Bury vs. Sunderland.
Burnley vs. Manchester City.
Everton vs. Luton Town.
Brighton or West Ham United vs. Middlesbrough or Birmingham.

Dunn broke away on a solo dribble to relieve the tension.

With half a minute to go Latti secured near the sideline, about forty yards out, and drove over a beautiful drop kick in play to close the scoring.

H. A. Tomlinson refereed and the teams lined up as follows:

J.B.A.A.—Zatta, Hunningham, Turgoose, Dunn, Pettigrew, Addison, Stephens, Murray, Pettigrew, Lemm, Good, Peard, Sprinkling, Usher, de Blaquiere.

Wanderers—Harmstrong, Meade-Robinson, Carmichael, Campbell, Haines, Thornbury, Gann, D. C. King, Bill King, Acland, McGregor, Harper, Mayhew, and N. Symons.

SCOTTISH VICTORS

A conversion kick by Campbell Forbes, scored after a penalty try, gave the Canadian Scottish their margin of victory as they sent the Navy down to a 5 to 3 defeat at Oak Bay Park. The game was hard-fought throughout.

Charlie McDonald opened the scoring for the sailors about five minutes from the start when he took a pass from a scrum on the highlanders' fifteen-yard line and reeled over. The kick for extra points failed.

With the try in their favor the Navy had a slight edge throughout the remainder of the half but could not make it count in the scoring columns.

Play re-started most of the second half, with each squad making good attempts that were bottled up well by the respective backfields when the thrusts had passed the forward line. About twenty minutes after the interval the Scottish went down on a rush which developed into a forward dribble. Following a questionable pass one of the men kicked over and Jack Briggs dashed across to touch the ball down between the posts.

Campbell Forbes made no mistake with the kick to give the millmen the decision.

WANDERERS TAKE GAME

Oak Bay Wanderers won the first half of the J.B.A.A. 5 to 0 victory over the Victoria College on Saturday afternoon. The Oak Bay group finished the half with six goals and three tries.

The school won Victoria College, 28 to 3, in the second intermediate fixture Saturday afternoon.

The Wanderers were held to a 3 to 3 lead for three-quarters of a match with the Fifth. F. Shepherd and Simpson scored the Wanderers' tries for the winners in the first half, while Lamm sandwiched an equalizer in between.

In the second half, Melville scored on a penalty dropkick with fifteen minutes to go. Lamm converted a try and Melville converted it just on time to bring the Oak Bay final score up to 14.

The University School was also held to a 3 to 3 lead up to half time by the Collegians, but it was a different story as the game drew to a close. Philippen and Rowe scored for the school in the first half, while Lamm scored twice, Bobby Taylor and Jack McVicar once each.

PROVIDENCE, R.I., Feb. 20.—Rhode Island Reds completely stopped the force of the Boston Cubs here yesterday evening, routing them 4 to 1 to take over first place in the National American League. Leo Gaudreault scored twice, Bobby Taylor and Jack McVicar once each.

CARL VOSS PLAYS LEADING ROLE IN WIN OVER BOSTON

A remarkable exhibition of goal tending, Montreal Maroons yesterday evening played Chicago Black Hawks to a scoreless tie in a rough, interesting National League hockey game.

During the regular periods Goale Dave Kerr had forty-one stops to twenty-eight for Chuck Gardiner of the Hawks and some of his work was almost like magic. Mush March and Pugh Thompson, among others, had wide-eyed looks like set-up shots, but Kerr made all kinds of attempts look the same.

The first period and a few seconds after it ended, provided two fast fights and five major penalties. Archie Wilcox and Roger Jenkins drew majors after hammering each other, and just after the siren sounded ending the frame, Dave Trotter and Pudge MacKenzie tangled. During the battle Lionel Conacher and Jenkins got into it, and Conacher, Trotter and MacKenzie were given five-minute penalties.

First period—No score. Penalties: Jenkins (major), Wilcox (major), Coulter (minor).

Second period—No score. Penalties: MacKenzie (major), Trotter (major), Conacher (major), Jenkins, Brydson.

Sweeping through all opposition to finish the tournament without a defeat the Vancouver Y.M.C.A. team, volleyball players, took first honors in the local Y.M.C.A. contest held in the local Y.M.C.A. on Saturday evening.

The mainlanders were far above the standard of the local association, playing in a tournament for the first time. However, the Victorians managed to gain a point or two despite the hard opposition.

The results of the various games follow:

Fears

Traces
Many Ills
to Fear of Neighbors

How Many of Life's Failures Are the Direct Result of the Fear of What Other People Will Say, and the Equally Demoralizing Fear of Appearing Different From the Herd?

THE TWO obsessing fears that keep the majority of men and women terrorized from the cradle to the grave are the fear of what people will say about them, and the fear of not doing what everybody else is doing. To a certain extent, the fear of what people will say is a salutary and disciplinary motion and a means of grace. It is the hangman's whip that keeps the rembling wretch in order, and it courses more poor, weak brothers and sisters along the straight and narrow way than all of the laws of the land and the Ten Commandments combined. For it is not dread of a guilty conscience nor apprehensions about the hereafter that prevents many a sinner from jumping the bars. It is the cold, clammy fear of what "they" will say that keeps him or her safely corralled within the fold.

It is the fear of what people will say about his being a loafer that makes many a lazy man work when his whole inclination is to sit back pretty and let his wife get a job and support him. It is the fear of what people will say about his being a coward that drives many a timorous man into being a hero. It is the fear of what people will say if he takes his pretty secretary out to lunch that turns many a philanderer into a Joseph.

It is the fear of what the neighbors will say that makes many an indolent woman sweep under the bed and wash behind her children's ears. It is the fear of what the women will say about her at the guild meeting or over their scrumptious if she is seen out with another woman's husband, or jostling with a handsome stranger that keeps many a flirtatious woman as far above suspicion as Caesar's wife.

So far, so good. And as long as the fear of being talked about keeps people from doing the things they should not do in order to avoid giving food for gossip, it makes for righteousness. But there is another side to this fear of what people will say that will write down our backbones and paralyze our wills and rob us of all freedom of action and that is, generally, one of the most demoralizing forces on earth. This is when our fear of what people will say makes such cowards of us that we dare not make an independent move, or to do the things we want to do and that we know are the right and sensible things for us to do.

It is this craven fear of what people will say that makes husbands and wives, who hate each other and fight like the Kilkenny cats, stay on together and ruin each other's lives. It is what keeps many a man who is a failure as a lawyer or a doctor from giving up the profession for which he is not fitted and taking up carpentering or farming or blacksmithing for which nature intended him.

It is what makes many a woman starve along on a pittance of an income rather than go out and get a job and make a comfortable living. Right now I know a woman who is energetic and industrious and a marvelous cook and housekeeper who exists on the dole given by grudging friends and relatives because she is so afraid of what people will say if she starts a boarding house.

And the most pathetic part of all this fear of what people will say is that it is a danger that none of us are aware of. No matter what we do or leave undone we will be gossiped about. People will discuss our actions and our motives, and the only way we can ever attain happiness and freedom is just to emancipate ourselves from the fear of what "they" say. Just let them talk; it doesn't matter as long as we are right with ourselves. After all, words break no bones, and when you reach the point when you consult your own pleasure and convenience instead of your neighbor's opinion, you are free for the first time in your life.

The second fear, the fear of not doing what everybody else does, is equally devastating and brings its thousands to grief and ruin every day. Its most common illustration is in the slavish way in which we follow the fashions irrespective of age, suitability or becomingness.

Pill-box hats are the style, and every woman from 16 to 60 claps one on her head, no matter what sort of jawbone or complexion nature has wished on her. Greta Garbo has a bob that a barber dreamed in a nightmare and Flopper Susie and grandma rush downtown and get their hair cut that way. Knee-length skirts are the vogue and no woman pauses to consider whether she has bandy legs or bowlegs or mill posts or broomsticks before she exposes them to the public gaze. Every woman is afraid not to dress like every other woman, though she might be beautiful and attractive in the clothes that suit her and is a figure of fun in the prevailing uniform.

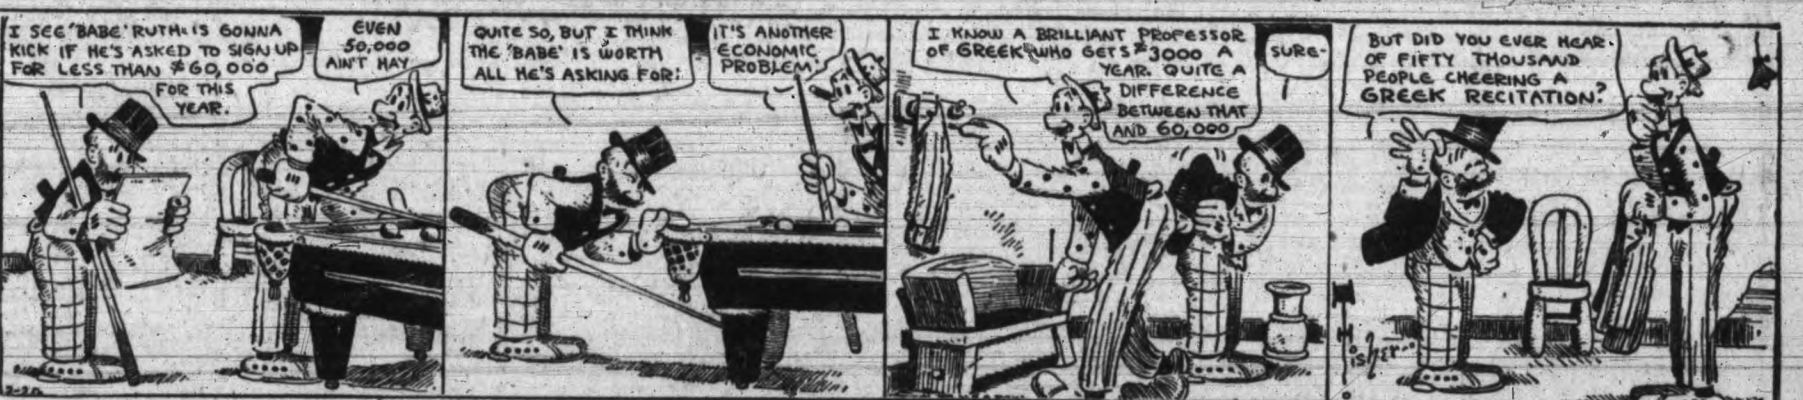

It is this fear of not doing what everybody else does that is at the bottom of most of the extravagances, most of the living beyond their means, that wrecks so many men and women. Often they do not want to commit the follies they are guilty of. They would actually prefer to live simply and within their incomes. They would rather stay at home than go out to a night club and get drunk and throw away money that they need for their bills.

But they are afraid not to keep up with the Joneses. They are afraid not to have an automobile because other people have them. It is fear of not being thought a good spender that makes them waste their money. It is the fear of not being sophisticated that makes them poison themselves on speakeasy gin, and pet and flirt with other people's husbands and wives and go the pace that brings them to bankruptcy and the divorce court in the end.

The one blessing of the depression has been that so many weary men and women could stay at home and rest and save because other people were doing it.

And the queer thing about these fears, that darken the lives of so many people is that they are just bugaboos that would vanish if you poked your finger at them.

Making a Newspaper

FINDING THE NEWS
Let us enter a class of "finding news" which was carried on in a newspaper office. We see men and women tapping keys of typewriters, preparing "stories" for the next edition. Where do they get the news for their stories?

Reporters referring to a police blotter.

their stories? That is a tale so long that I can only sketch it here. Reporters go to police stations, and ask a police officer to give them facts about the latest crimes or arrests. They go to the city hall for facts about the politics. They attend public meetings for news of speeches. They speed to the scene of fires. Sometimes a reporter returns to the newspaper office to write his story; but in other cases he telephones the news to the editorial rooms. We may obtain a glimpse of the life of newspaper folk by an actual case. The scene was Pittsburgh, and the time was a spring day. The city editor called a reporter and a photographer to his desk, and told them about a "gambling ring" which was carrying on its evil work in a hillside near the city limits.

"I want a picture," said the city editor, "to prove to the people of Pittsburgh that this sort of thing is going on! Lee, I'll depend on you to get the picture. These fellows are a rough lot and will smash your camera if they see you making a photograph, and maybe they will smash you as well; but I want the picture."

The reporter and the young man named Lee stepped into a taxicab to go to the scene of the gambling. When they arrived they told the driver to wait for them, and to be ready for a quick getaway.

While in the taxicab, Lee had prepared his camera for action. As he walked toward the gamblers, he kept the camera covered with a light overcoat which he held in his left arm. The newspapermen acted as though they were visitors who were thinking of doing some gambling. When eyes were turned toward the "game," Lee judged his distance, and there was a slight click.

The gamblers did not know that a picture had been taken—until, next morning they saw it on the front page of the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette! (Scrapbook club members may classify this story under "Human Interest.")
